PLOT

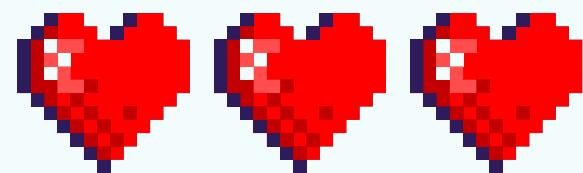

ELEMENT: SETTINGS

When/where does the story take place? The word "setting" includes not only where the story takes place but also when it happens, as well as the people and culture that live in the world where the story takes place.

ELEMENT: CHARACTERS

A character is a person, animal, or anything with people like characteristics.
Readers get to experience the story through a character's perspective.

ELEMENT: CONFLICT

Conflict is any challenge that a character faces in a story. Sometimes, it's a conflict between two people. Other times its a conflict between a character and their own thoughts.

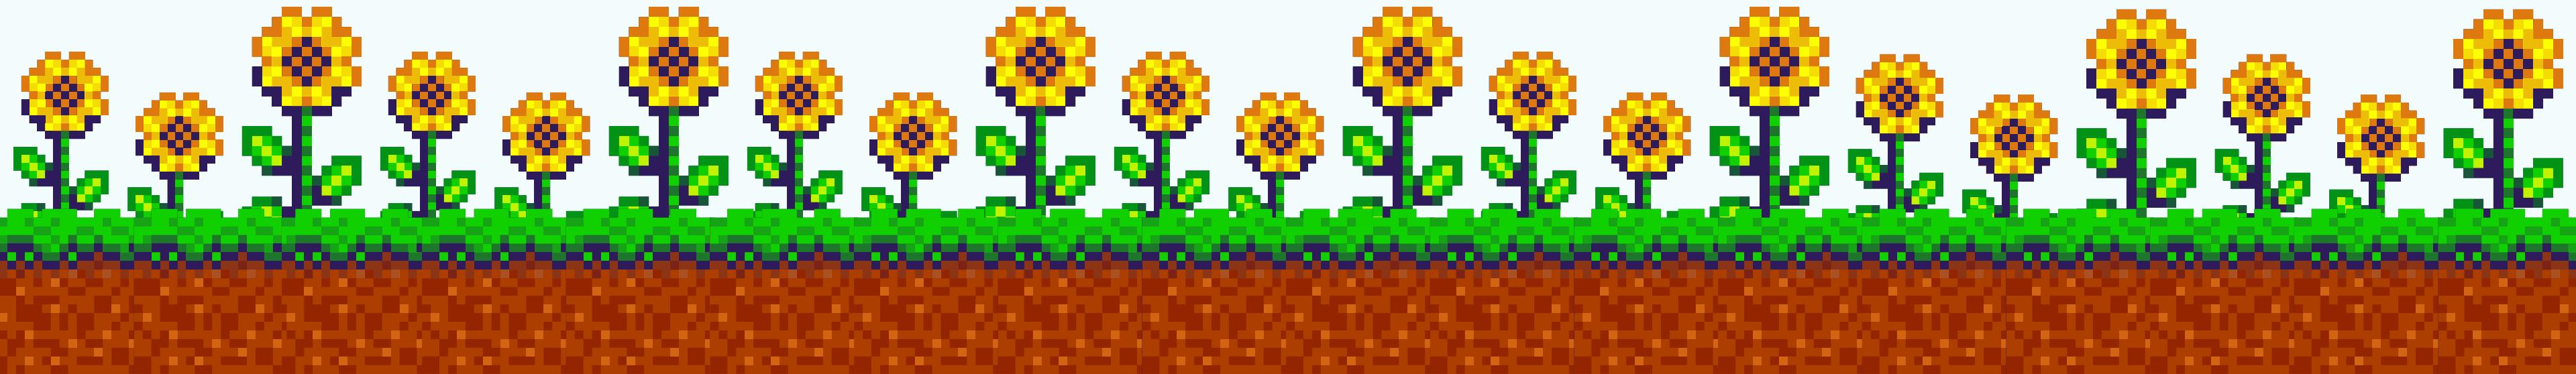

The protagonist is usually against the main character and is part of the conflict.

ELEMENT: THEME

The moral or lesson of the story.

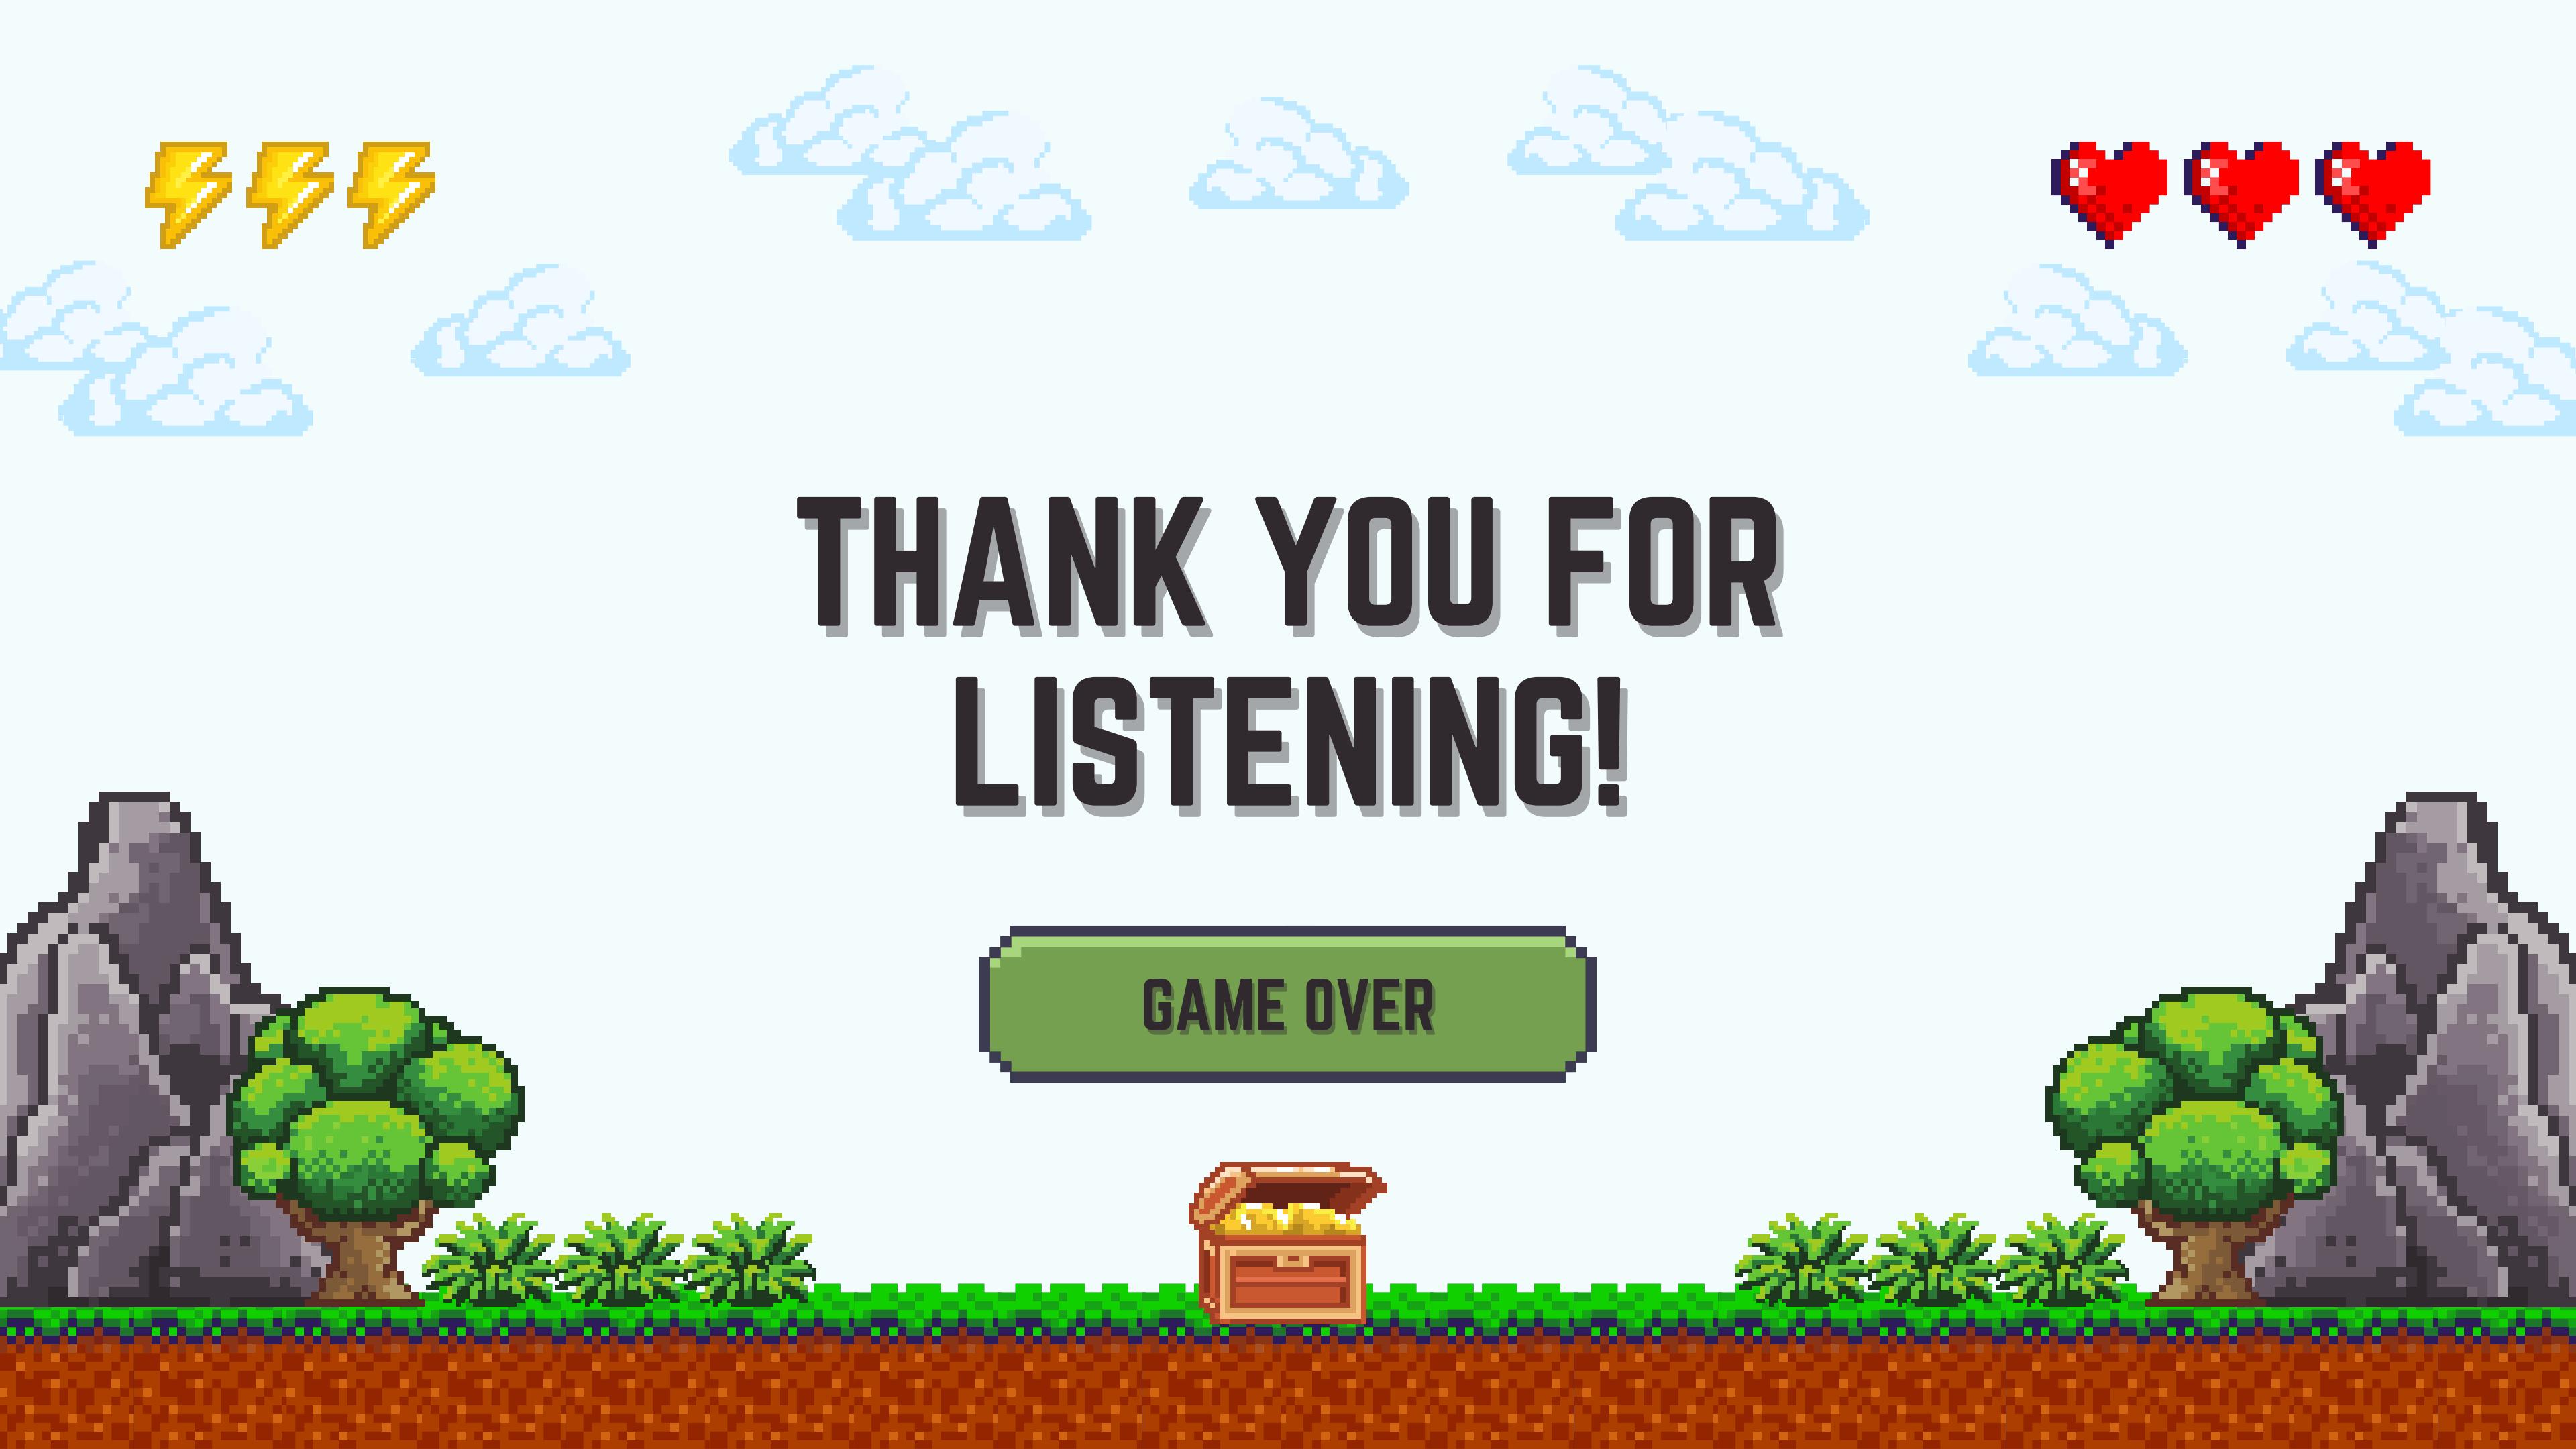

ELEMENT: PLOT

The sequence of events in a story is called the plot.

The plot will have an introduction, rising action, climax, falling action, and resolution.
